Working Group 2

Postcolonial Europe - Dissemination:

The Postcolonial Europe working group has produced the following output:

Special issue

Postcolonial Europe: Transcultural and Multidisciplinary Perspectives

Guest editors Sandra Ponzanesi (Utrecht University/Gender Programme) and Bolette B. Blaagaard (Research Fellow Centre for Law, Justice and Journalism, City University London).

Or for Contents (see attachment)

This special issue approaches feminist, postcolonial and race theory from different cultural, disciplinary and national backgrounds. The contributors engage with the question of what makes Europe postcolonial and how memory, whiteness and religion figure in representations and manifestations of European ‘identity’ and self perception.

This special issue has been republished as a book:

Deconstructing Europe: Postcolonial Perspectives

Sandra Ponzanesi and Bolette Blaagaard eds.

isbn: 978-0-415-69004-1

Price: £ 80 (hardback)

London: Routledge, 2011

This book engages with the question of what makes Europe postcolonial and how memory, whiteness and religion figure in representations and manifestations of European ‘identity’ and self-perception. To deconstruct Europe is necessary as its definition is now contested more than ever, both internally (through the proliferation of ethnic, religious, regional differences) and externally (Europe expanding its boundaries but closing its borders).

This edited volume explores a number of theoretical discussions on the meaning of Europe and proposes analyzing some of the deeds committed, both today and in the past, in the name of Europe by foregrounding a postcolonial approach. To deconstruct
Europe as a postcolonial place does not imply that Europe’s imperial past is over, but on the contrary that Europe’s idea of self, and of its polity, is still struggling with the continuing hold of colonialist and imperialist attitudes. The objective of this volume is to account for historical legacies which have been denied, forgotten or silenced, such as the histories of minor and peripheral colonialisms (Nordic colonialisms or Austrian, Spanish and Italian colonialism) and to account for the realities of geographical margins within Europe, such as the Mediterranean and the Eastern border while tracing alternative models for solidarity and conviviality. The chapters deal with social and political formations as well as cultural and artistic practices drawing from different disciplinary backgrounds and methodological traditions. As such it creates an innovative space for comparative and cross-disciplinary exchanges.

For further information: http://www.routledge.com/books/details/9780415690041/

TEACHING WITH GENDER - SERIES

Teaching “Race” with a Gendered Edge
Edited by
Brigitte Hipfl and Kristin Loftsdóttir
Forthcoming May 2012

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Table of Figures
Acknowledgements

Introduction
Kristin Loftsdóttir and Brigitte Hipfl

Part I: Thematic Explorations
Chapter 1: Breaking the Canon? Critical Reflections on “Other” Literary Traditions
Sandra Ponzanesi

Chapter 2: Monumental Dresses. Coming to Terms with Racial Repression
Rosemarie Buikema

Chapter 3: Embodying Otherness while Teaching Race and Gender at White European Universities
Ellis Jonker

Part II: Expressions of Racism and Gender in National and Historical Context
Chapter 4: Disappearing Act: The Forgotten History of Colonialism, Eugenics and Gendered Othering in Denmark
Bolette Blaagaard and Rikke Andreassen

Chapter 5: Portugal and the Empire: Discourses and Practices on Race and Gender
Elsa Peralta and Simone Frangella

Chapter 6: The French Ban on Headscarves: Rendering Racism Respectable
Erzsébet Barát and Ebru Sungun

Chapter 7: Racial/Ethnic Otherness in Polish Public Discourse
Aleksandra M. Róžalska

Chapter 8: “Not a Country for Women, nor for Blacks”: Teaching Race and Gender in Italy between Colonial Heritages and New Perspectives
Manuela Coppola and Sonia Sabelli

Notes on contributors

ONLINE MASTER

Postcolonial Europe: Gender, Ethnicity and Migration
The Master course on Postcolonial Europe: Gender, Ethnicity and Migration is the output of the activities of the postcolonial Europe working group 1B1 during Athena 2 (2003-2006). The Master is meant to be used as a basic source for bibliography, websites and critical references that address Europe from a postcolonial perspective in which national inflections and the specificities of gender and ethnicity are addressed. The course is meant to be integrated with further local sources and resources according to the institution in which it is going to be activated, the kind of curriculum it needs to fit, and the disciplinary contexts in which it is going to be housed. We have tried to provide as open a space as possible in order to solicit further integrations, adjustments and inspiration.

Link: http://www.postcolonialeeurope.net